

Top Skateboarding Shops In Philadelphia

March 31, 2012 6:00 AM

Filed Under: 29 Degrees, Classes, Darren Hunter, Exit Philadelphia, Fairman's, lessons, Method Board, Nocturnal, Philadelphia, Shop, Skate, Skateboard, Travel & Outdoors

Philadelphia is a destination for more than just American history. It's also a haven for skateboarders from all over the world. The city features some choice skateboard parks and spots all over downtown. Check out Granahan Skatepark on Callowhill Street and internationally recognized Love Park directly across from City Hall, or venture out to the informal skateboard race known as "The Bomb" each May, which runs from Lemon Hill along Boathouse Row all the way to FDR Park. With all of this skateboard action, naturally, the Philadelphia area boasts more than a few great skate shops.

LISTEN LIVE

FOLLOW US ON

Sign Up for Newsletters

Method Board Shop

4001 Crescent Ave.

Lafayette Hills, PA 19444

(610) 828-4758

methodskate.com

Method Board Shop sits just outside of Philadelphia in Montgomery County. Owner Mark Ruggiano works to make the shop a part of the local community and provides personalized service to each customer. Method Skate runs skateboard trips, barbecues and skateboard lessons for boarders of all skill levels. Method also hosts skate jams, at which contestants compete in the game of skate. Method Skate has another mom-and-pop skateboard shop in Sea Isle, NJ.